

Hello Pinewood Family,

I hope everyone enjoyed time outside in this beautiful weather this past weekend. This is my favorite time of year.

I wanted to pass along some great information I came across this past Saturday morning. CNN did a special town hall meeting with Sesame Street and discussed COVID-19. I am a huge fan of Sesame Street for small children. They are developmentally appropriate and they are not afraid to tackle a difficult subject like COVID-19. They covered a wide array of topics such as hand washing, how to handle virtual learning and spending so much time at home, and (my favorite) how to handle big feelings. Letting children know that it is okay to have big feelings and that everyone has big feelings is so important. Children need to have their feelings validated by adults they love and trust. I encourage everyone to watch this segment - Abby Cadabby, Grover, and Rosita did a wonderful job!

CNN posted a link to the 1.5 hour special and divided it up into subject matter, so you can pick and choose what you watch!
